

Eisenhower Golf Club Silver Course

The Silver course first opened for play in 1975. The course was designed by Frank Hummel, who designed over 20 outstanding courses in the mountain west states.

Widely regarded as the more scenic course of the two, the silver is a demanding golf course with a premium placed on accuracy rather than length. The course measures 6,519 yards from the championship tees and 5,215 from the forward tee. You will use every club in your bag on this great course. You won't see a house on either course, just pure golf.

The Silver gives golfers great views of the Rockies as well as the famed Air Force Academy where each year, up to a thousand young men and women graduate to become officers in the United States Air Force.

Like the Blue course, the greens are where your score is made or lost each hole has gravity defying putts but the birdies are out there if you play it smart. Risk reward best defines the Silver.

In 2021, the Silver will play host to its first ever Division 1 collegiate tournament.

Regardless of which course you play, your experience will be unique, between the beauty and the courses, you can't go wrong.

Eisenhower also offers a wide variety of menu options for your all your food needs as well as a full service bar and restaurant.

Thank you for considering Eisenhower Golf Club to host your event.
